MY WORK

I preach, because the gospel is not for us, but through us, for everybody else

·At Timothy Eaton Church I get to lead one of the leading mainline Protestant churches in North America in one of the world's greatest cities.

·I oversee a staff of ten, with three fellow pastors, and a budget of some $2.5 million.

·Interim pastorates at First Baptist Church, Vancouver, with the United Church of Canada's campus ministry at UBC, and at Vancouver Chinese Presbyterian Church.

·Regular guest preacher at Tenth Church, a multi-site and multi-racial megachurch in Vancouver.

·Hundreds of guest preaching opportunities in eight Canadian provinces, 26 US states, and eight other countries.

·Highlights include Durham Cathedral (UK), Duke Chapel (NC), Metropolitan AME (Washington DC), Christ Church United Methodist (New York City), Jesus and Selwyn Colleges at Cambridge University (UK), Christ Commission Fellowship (The Philippines), St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Presbyterian (Montreal), and the American Church in Paris (France).

I teach, because the classroom is a place of transformation and friendship

·At VST I taught across the curriculum, in history, bible, theology, and practical fields.

·Offerings included the nature and work of the Holy Spirit, learning preaching from the black church, introduction to public and pastoral ministry, the doctrine of the Trinity.

·I have evaluated or supervised doctoral dissertations at Garrett-Evangelical and Northern Seminaries (Illinois), Durham and Aberdeen Universities (UK), and the Toronto School of Theology (Canada).

I notice, since writing requires practice as a "first-rate noticer"

·I have written on faith and life for local outlets in Chicago IL (Christian Century), Durham NC (Faith & Leadership), Boone NC (Watauga Democrat), and Vancouver BC (The Vancouver Sun).

·Quoted in The Washington Post, USA Today, Time magazine, and consulted by dozens of other venues.

·Northern Lights: Resurrecting Church in the North of England (Cascade), on growing churches in a particularly church-averse part of the UK, from my time on sabbatical at Durham University and St. John's College.

·Regularly consulted for book endorsements and scholarly reviews of books and papers.

I write compulsively and collectively – to figure out what might be true

·10 solo-authored volumes published by Eerdmans, Baker, Abingdon and Cascade.

Foreworders include Martin Marty, Robert Jenson, Sam Wells, Joas Adiprasetya, and Will Willimon.

·Topics include scripture (Surprised by Jesus Again, Psalms 101-150, Praise Seeking Understanding), church and life (Trinity, Discerning the Body), the new shape of ministry (The Gifts of the Small Church, Christianity: An Asian Religion in Vancouver), recovering ancient practices (The Sayings of the Desert Fathers, Reading Augustine), and technology (Following).

·More than 350 articles for such venues as Christianity Today, Religion News Service, Sojourners, Theology Today, Journal for Preachers, and others.

I learn, since being a theologian, like being a disciple, is a never-settled practice

·Hundreds of interviews of others for Christian Century and Faith & Leadership, seeking the patterns of God's work in the church and the world.

·Curious about Pacific Rim Christianity, I have taught and preached often at Vancouver Chinese Presbyterian, Vancouver Taiwanese Presbyterian, and Vancouver Chinese Evangelical Free Church.

·My Trinity book is forthcoming in Indonesian translation with BPK Gunung Mulia (Jakarta).

·Presentations in Jewish settings (Or Shalom Synagogue, Limmud Vancouver, Holy Blossom Temple in Toronto, and regularly in inter-faith programming at VST) undo simplistic patterns of thought and teach me to stammer again.

·Christianity: An Asian Religion in Vancouver (Cascade, 2023), co-authored with Al Chu and Ross Lockhart, features Asian-Canadian Christians' contributions in medicine, law, engineering, government, teaching, and elsewhere.

I collaborate, because learning is a communal endeavor and power must be shared

·I have co-taught courses with Laura Duhan Kaplan (Jewish), Ross Lockhart & Richard Topping (Presbyterian), Paul Burns (Catholic at St. Mark's College), Miroslav Volf and Tim Perry (Anglicans at Yale and Providence Seminary, respectively).

I administrate, as a believer in thriving institutions
